The Principal of the Matter

This is the last newsletter of the school year from Chino Hills Christian School. That means the end of the school year is just around the corner. It also means graduation is almost here. While that fact usually brings a rousing round of applause from 6th graders, 8th graders, 12th graders, and college graduates across the nation, it is a time of sadness and reflection for us. This time of year brings an end to the daily relationship we have had with our 6th graders. For most of them, we have seen them every school day for 7 years.

Every time we reach June, we know that our opportunity to teach and impact this particular group of students is over. We have worked hard to prepare them for Jr. High. We have striven, year after year, to make sure they are prepared for academic success and also spiritual success in the years to come. For some of them, they will continue their education in a Christian institution. We are excited for them and for their new schools. We know they will continue to receive the godly instruction they have received here at CHCS. For those who will be moving on to a public Jr. High, we pray for their great success too and for boldness on their part to stand firm in Christ.

All junior high students, whether attending a Christian school or a public school, will face challenges. That is simply the nature of being a junior high student. But we pray that what they have learned at Chino Hills

Christian School will stay with them. We pray that when challenges come their way that they will remember the Bible verses they memorized or recall that special lesson or chapel that was taught to help prepare them for such a challenge or draw upon that special piece of wisdom given to them by a teacher.

Yes, we will miss our 6th graders. But, on the other hand, we look forward to our fifth graders stepping up to fill their shoes. We look forward to all the students the Lord will place at CHCS next year. It is an awesome and exciting responsibility to teach these students and help prepare them for the future.

Mr. Long
